It's scary picking against a team that has won 25 consecutive SBC games, especially one that has four home games in conference play and just 3 on the road but the situation greatly favors Middle Tenn in the opening SBC game. It's quite conceivable NT could win that and once again run the table, as they will likely be favored in each of their last 7 SBC games. NT amazingly returns two different players who have led the nation in rushing in each of the last two years (1st team to do so in NCAA history), so you know they are loaded in the backfield. How quickly their young defense (4 returning starters) comes around could determine whether or not it is yet another SBC Title.
