In a 12 team CUSA, we actually feel the Mustangs, talent-wise, rate anywhere between 7-9. Unfortunately, the bottom 3 teams in the league reside in the East and one of the top 9 teams will have to finish in the cellar here in the West. We do expect SMU to have a much stronger defense but, of course, we thought the same thing last year and the team still allowed 38.2 ppg, despite having 8 returning starters. Offensively SMU has a stronger O-line and should have their receivers drop the ball less, making them a more potent offense. It's tough to pick any of the six West teams for the basement but we have to call for somebody to finish here.
